

Malév flight stranded in Egypt

Thursday, 08 October 2009

A total of 178 Malév passengers were left stranded in Hurghada, Egypt when an aeroplane engine malfunctioned on Sunday, acting Malév PR director Ádám Hegedqs told MTI.

Malév specialists have flown to Hurghada to swap the faulty component. The airplane is expected to take off at 8 a.m. Monday and arrive in Budapest at noon. For photos click on Hungarian flag symbol!(caboodle.hu)
