

Hungary-Sized Oil Spill Continues to Foul Gulf of Mexico

Thursday, 17 June 2010

Via longtime tipster G.G. we found ifitwasmyhome.com, which has a clever widget that allows you to superimpose the current oil spill in the Gulf of Mexico over a Google map of some other part of the world. And how's this for weird: if you plug in Kecskemét, the oozing slick almost perfectly covers Hungary. Weirder still, the places where the oil is seeping across the borders are the same places ethnic Hungarians are. Hmmmm.