

Welcome to mini Hungary!

Friday, 27 May 2011

Hungary's most unusual park opened in Jakabszállás, Bács-Kiskun County - a 50-minute drive from Budapest - on May 10.

Magyarkert ("Hungary Garden") sits on a plot of land shaped like Hungary that totals 93,000 square meters, exactly one millionth of the territory of the country. It is Europe's largest horticultural park - home to 3,200 plants - and a precise model of Hungary complete with rivers and a Balaton-shaped small lake. kis-kunsag.hu, allatvilagunk.weboldala.net A Balaton-shaped small lake was also built to create a precise model of the country.

The park's developers aim to make it more than a garden. They hope it can become a meeting place for artists and an adventure park. As it is located next to a sports airport, it can also be viewed from above. Construction of the park started in 2009 following two years of planning. (caboodle.hu)