

Budapest Nightclub Bouncers Said Bouncing Patrons into River

Friday, 12 October 2012

If you've ever felt menaced by a bouncer at a Budapest night club you should feel lucky.

Because it means you are still alive &ndash; unlike an as-yet-undetermined number of young party-goers, who allegedly ended up dead after getting on the wrong side of hot-spot security goons. A series of reports last week linked to the recent takedown of Budapest nightlife kingpin László Vizoviczki gives us the grisly news that some bouncers were stripping unlucky revelers and tossing them into the Danube, where several are said to have subsequently disappeared. What a party. [index.hu]

(pestiside.hu)